Six hundred years in the making, this gloriously extravagant cathedral is a proud symbol of Milan. Decorated with hundreds of spirals and more than 3,000 statues, ranging from ghoulish gargoyles and sacred figures, milan's crowning glory Duomo is a shining golden Madonina. Milan's defender, she was also the highest point in the city until Pirelli Towers stole the title in 1961 m.Ne for no reason it became a Milanese catchphrase for the never-ending task of longh cumè la fabrica del domm (as long as the work of the Duomo). Started in 1386 by Giangaleazzo Visconti and completed only in 1965, the cathedral was trapped in war, lack of funds and sheer enormity of a project that requires targeted built canals to bring its main material, candoglia marble. Meanwhile, its long construction also led to a striking combination of architectural styles, which was applauded and criticized in equal proportions. Tickets will take you to a wonderful interior where you can unusual treasures such as borromeo rock crystal coffin and skinless statue of Bartholomew. The rooftop terraces also have access to city views and spectacular close-up spirals. Note that the security line can be long, so it is best to get there early.
